ICDS2022SORRENTO

Welcome

The ICDS, after having visited different continents, after 23 years will return to Campania, Italy, to Sorrento. In 1999 the ICDS took place in Naples. Since then, the interest in coeliac disease and the broader spectrum of gluten-related diseases, has steadily grown. Significant progress has been made in the understanding of the pathogenesis of coeliac disease. Cohort studies have shed light on the natural history of coeliac disease paving the way for prevention strategies. The realisation of coeliac disease as an autoimmune condition has had impact on new diagnostic tools and protocols. A growing number of clinical trials are being undertaken with the ultimate aim to obtain a therapy alternative to the gluten-free diet.

Sorrento 2022 will be the forum where scientists, clinicians, health allied professionals, patients associations and, industry, will meet to exchange knowledge and experience and to foster cooperation. Jointly with the Italian Coeliac Association (AIC) the first session of the Clinical Forum will be offered in streaming to Italian consultants and a session to inform the patients of the most recent research progress will take place at the end of the meeting. Sorrento with its beauties, the Amalfi Coast and the allure of Pompei, the food and the lemon scent, will make your visit an unforgettable experience.

We look forward to welcoming you to Sorrento!
